Likely Set Grades
for Garnet Wheat

IF BILL PASSES IT WILL CONTROL SALE OF 1933 CROP

WINNIPEG—Garnet wheat will be graded as a separate variety in the wheat crop of western Canada as from August 1, 1933, if a bill to amend the Canada Grain act which will probably be presented to parliament early in the New Year, is given approval.

The proposed amendment is to be submitted by the board of grain commissioners, to Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, it is understood, for his approval, as the result of an investigation by Mr. B. Ramsay, chairman of the board. Mr. Ramsay has just returned from Europe where he conferred with milling and grain interests in all important grain centres.

It is likely that only two grades will be set up for the Garnet variety instead of three, as recommended a year ago by western grain standards board, this being a sufficient number in the opinion of overseas buyers.

No. 707 (1930) for the sum of $67.00 be ordered cancelled, and that cheque No. 848 (1930) for the sum of $7.50 (S. Hawley), be cancelled, and another for the same amount be issued in favour of the Secretary.—Carried.

Do Your Christmas
Mailing Real Early

POST OFFICE DEPT. GIVES
PERTINENT ADVICE RE
CHRISTMAS CARDS

In an effort to speed up the service, and also to protect both sender and receiver of Christmas Cards as far as possible, the following advice from the authorities of the postal department is published for the convenience of our readers:—

"The postmaster desires to bring to the attention of the mailing public the objections to the use of the small and oversize cards and envelopes which at any time are difficult to handle, but particularly so during the busy Christmas and New Year seasons.

"In urging the public to use cards and envelopes larger than three inches by four inches, the following objections to the smaller size should be pointed out:

"1. Small envelopes and cards cannot be satisfactorily passed through the electric cancelling machines. This, at many offices, means a slower cancellation and general handling.

"2. The cancellation mark in many cases obliterates part of the address, with the probability that the articles may be misdelivered or at least delayed.

"3. The small size renders the sorting and making up of bundles more difficult and hampers the work of the office at a time when speed is essential.

"4. Owing to small size there is a greater possibility of loss, as small cards or envelopes may fall out of the bundle to which they are tied.

"Oversize cards and envelopes (larger than four by nine inches) have the following objections:

"1. Difficulty of cancelling by machine.

"2. Too large in many cases to be readily sorted into standard sorting cases without folding, with consequent slower handling, and in the case of cards—damage.

"3. Large cards and envelopes project from bundle and when tied are apt to be cut at edges.

"In general all types of freak cards and envelopes cause difficulty and should be avoided.

"The postmaster would like to ask the co-operation of the mailing public in these matters."

PATTERSON STORE UNDERGOES CHANGES

Great improvements have been made this week at Patterson's Departmental store, with extensive remodeling being done, and a much larger stock of goods installed. The partition in the center of the old store has been removed, the office moved to the rear, the grocery department moved to the north side of the store, and other changes made. A much larger stock of goods is being carried.

The contract for the remodeling was given to R. A. McKay, who did a very satisfactory job as well as a rapid job of it. The extensive changes were carried on with no interruption to the store's business and with very little inconvenience to the many customers. Only a few days last week were required to complete the major part of the work.

Canadian Children Longer in School

PERCENTAGE OF ILLITERATES
OVER FIVE YEARS ONLY
7.66 PER CENT

TORONTO.—A survey of education in Canada issued by the Federal Government shows that the proportion of the population over five years of age unable to read and write has been reduced in the past ten years from 10 per cent to 7.66 per cent, a reduction of 23.4 per cent in illiteracy. Every province shows an improvement, which has been consistent since the beginning of this century, when only 32.88 per cent of the population could read and write.

There are listed in Canada 32,637 educational institutions, with an attendance of 2,542,747 students and 84,208 teachers, and last year they cost $36,000,000 for maintenance. There are shown exceptionally large increases in the number of older pupils, indicating that lack of employment keeps them at school. Actually there has been a ten-year increase of about 20 per cent in the number of children in Canada of school age as compared to an increase of 25.8 per cent in the school attendance. This means that the school life of Canadian children has been lengthened considerably and statistics show as well an improvement in regularity of attendance.

Provincial grants to schools have increased 246 per cent in the past 15 years, while total ordinary provincial expenditures have increased by 264 per cent.

Centenarian Dies in Sutton, Ontario

WELL-KNOWN TO RESIDENTS OF THIS DISTRICT

A recent issue of the Toronto Globe carries the following despatch which has been handed in for reprint:—

SUTTON, Ont., Nov. 13.—Dr. John Noble, widely known as the grand old man of North York riding, died this morning in his 103rd year, following a lengthy illness. Reputed to be the oldest in his profession in the Province, Dr. Noble recalled the early days of Sutton, when seventy-five years ago it consisted of three hotels, one store and a half dozen residences. He remembered the time when Indians from Snake Island came to the village for supplies, and he often told of the biggest fire in North York when the entire village was threatened with destruction by a fire spreading from a barn adjoining the Mansion Hotel. For almost sixty years he enjoyed a wide practice in Georgian and West Gwillimbury Townships.

A native of Markham Township, he graduated from Victoria in 1856, and set up his practice in Sutton, this now being carried on by his son Charles, with whom he made his home. When he made his first rounds more than seventy years ago, Dr. Noble usually travelled on horseback. With his little bag of prepared medicines and surgical instruments slung across the saddle in front of him, he covered many miles of territory as he called on the farmers on the shores of Lake Simcoe. A Liberal in politics, he was for many years very active in public affairs in North York, where he spent almost his entire life.

Legion Elects New Officers

DESPITE DEPRESSION PAST YEAR LOCAL BOYS PUT UP RECORD

The seventh annual general meeting of the Wainwright Branch No. 39 of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., was held in the Masonic hall on Saturday last, the 26th instant.

The meeting was well attended and opened with a well worded address by the President, Dr. H. L. Courcier.

The Secretary's report showed a very successful year which, despite the prevailing depression, had achieved a record in paid-up membership poppy sales and Remembrance Day observance.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Honorary Presidents: Comrades Rev. W. S. Brooker and Rev. C. N. Bateman; President, Comrade Dr. H. L. Courcier; vice-president, Comrade J. Alderman; executive committee, Comrades J. G. Clark, E. R. Fricke, G. Graham, J. A. MacKenzie, W. R. G. Morrison, F. McLeod, H. P. Schijlt and Dr. H. L. Courcier.

Matters of general interest to ex-soldiers occupied the remainder of the evening after which ratings were distributed by Comrades Alderman and Fricke.

The meeting then closed with high hopes for another successful year.

WILL SANTA CLAUS COME?

There are hundreds of children who are asking this question just now, or at least have the wonder in their minds, and many parents are unable to answer them. So many people who have been accustomed to the annual visit of Santa are this year in grave doubt. But so far as the Wainwright district is concerned no child has ever missed the visit, and this year should prove no exception.

We understand that the members of the local W.I. (who incidentally work hard all through the year to alleviate distress wherever found) are working on the problem of "that Christmas spirit", and therefore we are asking that those who have no actual worries along that line will help to their utmost extent by donations (food, clothing and money are all acceptable) that those in need may share. A phone to Mrs. R. Greer, the secretary, or to the Star office, will be appreciated.

Warden Gets Good Shooting in Park

SAYS KODAK GIVES HIGHEST KIND REAL SPORT
MOVING LIFE

Showing some splendid moving pictures of the government herds of buffalo at Wainwright park, and some of the beaver settlements in Riding mountains, Manitoba, S. H. Clarke, provincial game warden, gave a brief talk on big game hunting with the camera to the members of the Kiwanis club, at their weekly luncheon in Edmonton. Rev. C. G. Stone presided, in the absence of President Julian Garrett.

Mr. Clarke stressed the point that "shooting" with the camera was every bit as exciting as shooting with rifles and gave far more lasting satisfaction. Some of the best and most famous hunters in the United States and Canada had been converted to the camera as a means of sport in recent years, there is a thrill of the highest kind in getting a movie of wild life in the mountains that cannot be had in any other accomplishment he declared.

DAVISON RETURNS FROM TRIP WITH ELK

After a pleasant trip in charge of 25 beautiful specimens of elk from our national park, Dave Davison returned home last week-end. While away he took the opportunity to make calls on folks in Ottawa, Petawawa and Pembroke and altogether had an enjoyable trip. The only exception to the pleasure of the trip was a nasty cut which he received on one leg when kicked by an elk.

We are sorry to report that Sandy Miller, who has been a patient at the Wainwright municipal hospital for some time, is not feeling as well these days.

Liquor Profits Show Decrease In Profits

ANNUAL REPORT LIQUOR CONTROL BD. SUBMITTED BY CHAIRMAN

The annual report of the Alberta Liquor control board, as prepared by Mr. R. Dinning, chairman of the board, and submitted to the Attorney-General Hon. J. F. Lyburn, K.C., last week shows that the profits from this source of revenue for the province were decreased during the fiscal provincial year ending March 31st last by a sum of over half-a-million dollars. The net profits from all vendors transactions amounted to $1,305,540 as against net profits for the preceding twelve months of $1,888,338, the cost of operating the vendors' stores being $421,478.

A total of 381 licenses were issued during the same period, but ten of these were suspended, and 372 was the highest number in use at any one time. An income of $1,07,928 was derived from license fees, and a high standard of comfort and convenience to the public has been maintained, a high percentage of licensees premises.

In all 48 club licenses were issued and 12 canteen licenses. One club license was suspended for three weeks.

The Liquor Enforcement squad was done away with in September of 1931 and the provincial and municipal police took over the work.

Three local option plebiscites were held involving a cost of only $145. Sale of permits brought in revenue of $137,604. In all, 340 permits were cancelled, with 107 being held by interdicts. In this year 513 persons were interdicted.

Spencer Delvee Into Soldier Debt Enforcement

KHAKI BOYS RELIEVED UNTIL
PRICE OF WHEAT
GOES HIGHER

We are in receipt of a communication from Mr. H. E. Spencer, M.P. for Battle River riding, anent the enforcement of governmental debts against soldier settlers' land, and the Hansard record of the debate on the question reads:—

Mr. H. E. Spencer (Battle River): I should like to address a question to the Minister of Labor. In view of the fact that many soldier settlers are having great difficulty in meeting their payments on account of the very low price of farm products and, that if these are met, they will not have enough to carry on for the new year, I should like to ask the Minister whether it is the intention of the government to force these payments.

Hon. W. A. Gordon (Minister of Labor): Since, I believe, November 1930, after a very thorough investigation of the condition in which soldier settlers in common with many others found themselves, I caused various superintendents throughout Canada to be circled by the then board and afterwards by the director the instructions in substance being that every possible leniency be extended to soldier settlers; that where it appeared that a soldier settler not through malingering, being able to pay just refused to pay, but through misadventure was unable to make his payments falling due on account of his loss, then in no case should departmental action be taken that would prompt or cause such a settler to leave his homestead. That policy has been consistently followed, is being followed today, and will continue to be followed until prices revive and the settlers are in better condition.

Premier Brownlee Says Deficit of 1931 Unavoidable

FALLING OFF IN REVENUE
MADE SHORTAGE LARGER THAN ANTICIPATED

Provincial finances for the year ending on March 31st last show a much larger deficit than had been anticipated, although according to a statement of the fiscal position of the province for the first six months of the current year shows a rise in revenue over the previous year.

In commenting on the subject with The Bulletin last week, Premier Brownlee is quoted as authority for the following statement:—

"In common with all governments," he said, "both Dominion and provincial, the year's results were very bad, due to the fact that none could anticipate the world crisis would be so great and that its effect upon provincial revenue would be so extremely bad.

"The increase in the capital debt is large, but it must be remembered that of the total of some $19,000,000 some $5,600,000 represents settlement of the Wheat Pool guarantees, for which full security is held and which will take care of itself. Another $3,000,000 represents the recent English loan, while a large sum was expended for unemployment relief.

"A substantial amount of unemployment relief money was taken up with highways construction, which has had the effect of largely completing the gravelled road program. This work done at the lowest cost also: we started our highways program and at the same time the Dominion government made a contribution of 50 per cent of the cost, which had the effect of anticipating work which had to be done in the long run and done on terms we could not hope to get later. In addition it also provided work for many people.

"We are the first of the western provinces to reveal our financial results for 1931 and I have no doubt that when the others are published we will be found to compare favorably with them."

St Thomas' Ch. Hold Huge Ann. Bazaar

PROVES BIG SUCCESS FROM ALL STANDPOINTS
IN I.O.O.F. HALL

The St. Thomas Bazaar which was held under the auspices of the W.A. in the I.O.O.F. hall on Saturday afternoon last, undoubtedly, was one of the most popular events of the year. Promptly at 3 p.m. the vicar (Rev. C. Bateman) with a few words of encouragement and congratulation declared the bazaar open. The stalls were immediately uncovered and a brisk business ensued. A special feature of the sale was the Irish linen goods which quickly disappeared into the hands of thrifty buyers. House dresses, aprons, plain sewing, novelties, and fancy work of all descriptions, were placed with a special appeal to the patrons, which resulted in a strenuous time for the sales-ladies. Mesdames C. T. Lally, F. M. McLeod and A. C. Hart. Mrs. Milner with a daintily-laden table of home cooking and candy disposed of all her goods with satisfactory results. The gift tree in charge of Mrs. G. Arkwright was a great attraction to the kiddies and certainly warranted its existence. Mrs. A. J. Armstrong and her committee, composed of Mrs. A. Adams and Mrs. Whittle offered a very enticing tea, which kept the waitresses, Mrs. Smart, Mrs. Winslow, Miss E. Hart, Miss B. Love, Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Wear busy the whole afternoon. The Junior W.A. offered the balance of their "Made in Canada" goods for sale and this stall was capably managed by Mrs. R. Robertson who handed over to the Juniors the sum of $7.00. During the afternoon a grand total of $135.00 was taken in, for which the President, Mrs. C. T. Lally and the members extend to the general public their sincere thanks for such generous patronage.

H.M.S. Marlborough, the only British battleship torpedoed in the war, is being scrapped.

WHAT SHALL WE GIVE?

Why not give something which will last through the whole year, and bring a weekly reminder of the giver? Why not make it a "Star" Christmas? Just tell us to whom you want "The Star" to be sent and we will look after it. In addition we will send an attractive Christmas card, with your compliments printed on it, which will be delivered with the Christmas mail. The cost is only two dollars for a whole year.

Drama of Mother Love At Theatre

JAMES DUNN, SALLY EILERS &
MAE MARSH STAR IN
"OVER THE HILL"

"Over The Hill." Fox special playing at the theatre this week, has been heralded as "the finest human drama since the advent of talking pictures."

A cross-section of a family, "Over The Hill," tells a double story of romance and love. It deals with the drama, the comedy and the pathos of a mother and her growing brood. It depicts the defeats and the victories of a young couple starting life in a hard and hostile world.

James Dunn and Sally Eilers, as the young lovers, give the finest performance of their careers in the new film. Mae Marsh has surpassed her work in "The Birth Of A Nation" and "Intolerance." Returning to the screen after twelve years of motherhood in real life, she gives one of the finest mother performances in the history of the screen.

Director Henry King combines the pathos of his "Stella Dallas" and "Merely Mary Ann" and the comedy of his "Twenty Three And A Half Hours Leave" in the new film.

Of particular interest is the prologue of the story, which deals with the childhood of the principal players and which is enacted by a group of Hollywood's most talented juveniles.

NEARING TIME FOR ELECTIONS

Within a few short weeks it will again be time for Wainwright to be having its annual civic election, and at that time a number of offices on Council, School Board, and Hospital Board will be automatically vacant.

The thought then arises—who are we desirous of seeing filling these vacancies? Who will prove the best material for the job to be done in the interests of the ratepayers? How have the actions of those previously elected met our needs as a community? Are we desirous of having any changes for the coming two years?

Such questions as these are truly pertinent to the matter of filling the seats of our governing bodies, and should be the constant thought of all ratepayers from now till the marking of the ballots at the polls.

During their particular term of office, every public servant is the subject of much unsavory criticism (in practically all cases truly unwarranted) and yet without doubt the judgments handed down by these representatives of the people are in their opinion honest and just expressions of the greatest good to the largest number as they so decide in their several deliberations. They are never able to satisfy all parties in their decisions; they spend money foolishly; nearly everything they do is wrong and against the better judgment of some others. Such is the nature of a lot of unthinking and carping criticism which all (or nearly all) publicly elected servants have to withstand; but it must be ever remembered that we are all human, and therefore prone to find fault!

We wonder, has it ever occurred to our readers that these men are holding their positions because WE elected them to such? One may contend that "I didn't put him there, why I didn't even vote!" Possibly true; and if so more shame to the person making such a statement. If you have not enough interest in things to register your vote, then truly you have no right whatever to condemn actions which you took no trouble to get altered, or to have your representative alter.

The very finest of public servants, who it must be remembered work for our interests for the love of the thing and without remuneration of any kind, can only accomplish any reforms for the good of all just as far as they receive the whole-hearted co-operation of those they serve, and it is a well-known fact that this co-operation is sadly lacking in very many instances.

Year after year, there is a list posted in the Town Office of the voters, and an opportunity given to everyone entitled to vote to register. And just as often there are many who never take the trouble to enter their names on the list and try to get a vote. What is the matter with us? Election day comes and we want to vote, (maybe?), but our name is not on the list, and then the smoke does fly when we are refused this privilege.

Well, consistency is a great virtue, but unfortunately, few of us have it. We spend our time talking about what the other fellows do, and the way they do things, and yet we either put them in by our vote, or else they got there, partly at least because we don't vote, so it is just about as broad as it is long. If you want things done differently, now is the time to get busy, not on and after election day.

YOUR WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

Hon. George Hoadley, provincial minister of agriculture, paid a tribute to the weekly newspapers of the province this week when he stated that these newspapers were one of the best means of distributing information on agricultural topics. This statement was made during a discussion of methods for giving publicity to agricultural extension work.

Hon. Mr. Hoadley is right. There is no better means for distributing information to the agricultural sections of the province than through the country weeklies. This has been proven many times. It is about time some recognition of the value of the country press was made.

Big daily newspapers printed in the cities have a special field of their own. They provide the general news, the sensational and outstanding things that occur from day to day. They have reached a high state of perfection. They have large editions filled with news, articles and advertising, but they lack the intimacy of the weekly newspaper, which deals with home matters and is read from beginning to end. The weekly newspaper is a home newspaper. Nothing can quite take its place.

The weekly press deals with homey things. A baby born, a road graded, a good crop, a social gathering at a farm home, the minutes of a council meeting, a school report, a U.F.A. meeting, a baseball game, friends dropping in for Sunday—all that is grist for the weekly newspaper's news mill. What daily newspaper could bother with such happenings? But that's the stuff a country newspaper thrives on.

The weekly newspaper fights valiantly for its district, records complaints and strives mightily with its editorial pen. It may lack the polish or sophistry of the high and mighty dailies, but it has something no daily could take from it—a local interest and a local loyalty that is beyond price.—Hanna Herald.

"DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED!"

This being the season of the year when guns of almost every calibre are in almost daily use for one purpose or another possibly a few timely hints will not be amiss to attempt to avert one or more of the numerous fatalities which seem to crop up annually when the budding nimrods sally forth to fill the larder with the trophies of the hunter.

Accidental shooting accidents are being recorded every day in the papers and invariably the time-worn excuse that the gun was supposed to be unloaded is heard. Whether loaded or empty, a gun should never be pointed at another person.

Time and again warnings are given against handling rifles and revolvers with the muzzles pointed in the direction of another person. But it is done every day and there are many distressing tragedies. There is, however, a worse folly than that—the folly of putting guns away without first making sure that the breech is empty. If that were done there could be no accidental shootings.

In competitive rifle and revolver shooting at ranges marksmen are given a certain number of cartridges. When they have fired their usual seven or ten shots, it is an universal rule, even if the competitor is satisfied that he has fired all his rounds, to keep the muzzle pointed in the direction of the target and press the trigger once more. Then there is absolutely no doubt about the gun being empty.

If everybody who went out shooting made a habit upon returning of pointing the gun toward the ground a few feet ahead and pressing the trigger just once more, there would be no loaded guns brought into homes and cleaned or laid aside with a cartridge still in the breech. To put a gun away with a bullet inside is the limit of criminal folly. Were it not for the fact that the principal characters in these dramas are usually relatives or friends who bear each other the best of good-will, the law ought to come down on them just as heavily as it does in the case of a man who maims or kills somebody through reckless driving.

Reckless handling of firearms is just as bad as reckless driving of cars.

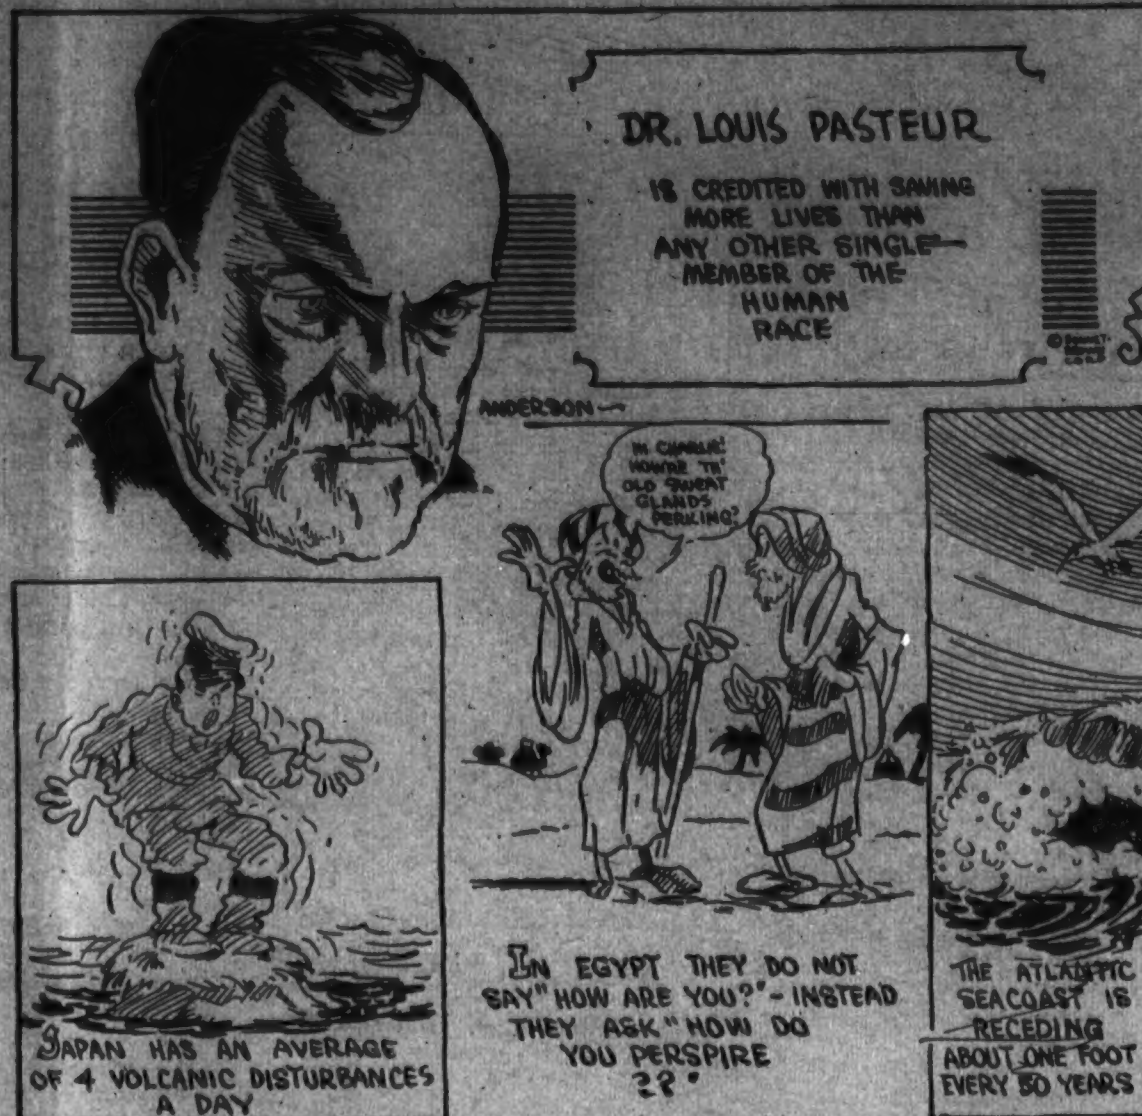

MAKING MOTORING SAFE

Severe penalties for reckless driving are being imposed by magistrates in the United Kingdom. One 20-year-old driver of a motor van was disqualified for 25 years from driving any motor vehicle and fined $15 and costs. He had been driving a motor van which swerved across the road, mounted the sidewalk, knocked down a lamp standard and killed a pedestrian. His explanation was that a "jar" wrenched the steering wheel of the van out of his hands. Another young man, son of a former secretary of state for the dominions, was fined for reckless driving and deprived of his license to drive for five years. It is the only way to deal with those who so flagrantly abuse the convenience of a modern amenity and turn it into a menace.—Ottawa Journal.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

CONTACTS

The word "contact" is used with many different meanings. We speak, for example, of social contacts; but when the term is used in preventive medicine it refers to persons who have been closely associated with or exposed to the discharges from the body of a person suffering from a communicable disease.

A tuberculosis contact is a person who has been living with or frequently in company of one who is suffering from tuberculosis.

The communicable diseases are, as a rule, spread by contact. The contact may be direct, as in kissing, or when the saliva is passed directly from the sick to the well by uncovered coughs, sneezes or vigorous talking. When the saliva is deposited on some article, such as a cup, which is used later by a second person who in this way receives the saliva of the sick person, then contact is said to be indirect.

The germs which cause disease, and which leave the body in its secretions and excretions, do not generally survive for long. Sunlight and drying destroy them. This explains why it is that direct contact is chiefly responsible for the spread of disease germs, as in such cases the transfer is direct, the number of germs passed is apt to be large, and the germs are not exposed to those forces in nature which destroy them.

Indirect contact does account for many cases, however. The danger is in proportion to the length of time that elapses between the germs leaving one body and gaining entrance to a second. It is well to keep in mind that "it is persons, not things, which are dangerous"; or, in other words, that it is direct contact with the secretions of those harbouring disease germs which is dangerous rather than the room and other inanimate objects which they have touched. We say "harbouring disease germs" because it is not only those who are actually ill with a communicable disease who have to be considered, but also those who are coming down with the disease and those who are "carriers" of the germs, although they themselves are apparently well.

It is evident that we are vitally concerned in the health of those with whom we come in contact. The menace of the careless cougher, sneezer, and spitter, or the person who talks right into your face, is obvious. The protection secured through the thorough washing of hands before eating, and the reason why the hands should be kept away from the face, is apparent when one considers all those articles with which the hands come into contact, and which may be soiled by fresh human germ-laden secretions.

Life brings us many contacts. Reasonable care makes such contacts safe.

AUSTRALIA, HELPING SELECT EXHIBITS FOR 1933 SHOW

To assist farmers, particularly junior farmers, in the preparation of exhibition samples for the World's Grain Show next year, the Field Crops Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture will hold a number of seed cleaning demonstrations through out the province this autumn. Demonstration material will include small type fanning mills, and hand screens. The meetings will also include suitable lectures and lantern-slide talks.

Approximately forty junior seed fairs will be held in Alberta during the next two months. At these fairs the junior farmers of the province, numbering approximately 1,000 will exhibit their grain and seed. An effort will be made to have the better samples entered at the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference which opens at Regina on July 25, next year.

Sydenham Says

By John Moore

The enrollment ceremony of the Boy Scouts was enacted Tuesday, Nov. 22, at Sydenham school. Scoutmaster Lilly came out from town, accompanied by Patrol Leaders Wallace and Cummings. Those enrolled were Ian Glenn, Hugh Moore, Billy and Jack Paul, with John Moore appointed as patrol leader. Patrol Leader Wallace carried the colors and Patrol Leader Cummings helped in the ceremony. After the enrollment Scoutmaster Lilly gave a short talk. The evening was ended with a number of games and a prayer.

A whist drive and dance will be held at Sydenham school on Dec. 2nd. The whist prizes will be turkeys and chickens.

Who says the excitement has gone from sleigh riding? At least Kathleen and Stella Kinghorn and John Moore don't say so. Friday evening as they were going home from school their horses took fright at a bull straying on the road and bolted. Fortunately no one was injured and they proceeded safely home after an exciting chase after their horse.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morton have moved into their farm by the river.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinghorn motored to Kinross last week to visit the fox ranch there. Mr. Kinghorn took advantage of that opportunity to trade several of his own foxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Croteau entertained several of their friends on Saint Katherine's day.

Unemployed Need Not Be Helpless

MANY ODD JOBS ARE AT HAND IS CLAIM OF RELIEF COM.

Alberta relief commission is not inclined to grant clothing relief to unemployed men at the present time, when there is an excellent opportunity for odd jobs of various kinds, particularly snow shovelling, at which to earn sufficient to buy a little clothing, it was stated by A. A. Mackenzie, chairman of the commission.

"Apparently many of these men are making no effort to get jobs of this kind, although those who do make this effort are doing rather well," said Mr. Mackenzie. "We have had many applications for men for odd jobs, particularly snow shovelling and we have found that there is really very little effort on the part of the unemployed themselves to get out and canvass for such jobs, in which there is just now an excellent opportunity to earn a little money, sufficient at least for some clothing. While this condition lasts the commission is inclined to refuse to grant clothing relief."

"It must be remembered that we are commissioned to grant relief only in cases of unemployment and are not really justified in spending money to give relief where there is an opportunity of employment."

BRITISH GUIANA RICE

British Guiana intends to invade Canada as a market for rice, according to a statement made to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways by H. B. Gajraj of Georgetown, a leading merchant of the colony. He claims that British Guiana rice has a higher food value than that of any other country in the world. Growers of British Guiana will endeavor to demonstrate the quality of their product by means of an exhibit at the World's Grain Show in Regina next year.

When We Were All Much Younger

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Nov. 27, 1912

The Park Hotel has again changed hands and is now being run by Messrs. Hacker Bros., formerly of Biggar. A transfer was consummated Monday when Geo. Kendall of Winnipeg and G. C. Partridge, manager, made final agreements.

Mr. Geo. L. Hudson was a visitor to Wainwright last week attending a Conservative banquet there.

Mr. J. Leroyberry has recently taken over the agency for the Massey-Harris line of machinery and is now managing the company warehouse. Mr. T. Carbert was the former manager.

Mr. Touhey, who recently sold his farm at Gilt Edge to Mr. Simpson, left here Friday for the southern states and then later he will go to Buenos Ayres, Argentina.

There will be several aspirants for the Mayoralty and Council. Coun. Milla will enter the field for Mayor, and it is possible that Coun. W. J. Mueson will consent to offer himself for election to the same office. The names of H. C. King, P. W. Deverson, Mayor Pawling, Dr. McQueen and Frank Lush are mentioned as candidates for Councillors.

TEN YEARS AGO
Nov. 29, 1922

The town band is now reorganised and Manager Gerow states that the boys are busy practising for their winter work at the skating rink.

Dr. H. C. Wallace was a business visitor in Edmonton last week-end.

Steve Bowerman reports that the prices of the Brophy sale last week were all good with the exception of the horses.

The British Petroleum well just north of town is progressing and the "bit" is now a long way towards the oil bearing strata.

On account of having to close out some business there, Dr. Courser was a business visitor in Edmonton last week-end.

While starting his Ford last week Mr. Geo. Hedlund had the misfortune to break his arm. It is progressing nicely at this date.

Miss H. Torry, who has been ordered out for her health, leaves for Detroit and New York on Thursday morning.

ONE YEAR AGO
Dec. 2, 1931

Mrs. Anna Gertrude McKinnon passed away suddenly on Saturday while visiting at the home of Mrs.

Norman King at Fabyan. She was 58 years old and died of a heart attack.

Last Saturday Mr. Harry McKinnon's car had both doors torn off and several other damages were done. The car got stalled in the deep snow. Getting out from the car to restart the engine, he found that the clutch had shifted into reverse gear, with the result that as soon as started, the car made back down the hill and ran into some poplar brush at the side of the road. Tragedy entered in when he arrived at home and found that his wife had died suddenly while he was away.

Mr. William Samuel Ford, who has been visiting his brother, Mr. Fred Ford, at Heath, since October, dropped dead at his bed-side while he was dressing on Wednesday morning. He was 64 years old.

We are glad to note that Mrs. F. C. Dickens, who was taken to the hospital on Saturday for medical treatment is now feeling much better.

We learn that Mrs. H. Messier, who was hurt in a car smash in Edmonton last week, is now recovered from the shock and bruises received there.

Despite the short warm spell which is all against the ice skating at the rink, the children are having a good time there.

YOUNG MAN DRIVES DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE

Chauffeur of the great and near-great is Duncan D. Grant, of Toronto, 25-year-old undergraduate in mining engineering. Mr. Grant, when distinguished visitors arrive in Toronto, leaves his studies and slips behind the wheel of a Cadillac V-16, which he has driven at various times to the delight and satisfaction of Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan, Lord Jellicoe, Lord Bessborough, Viscount Duncannon, Kaye Don, Stanley Baldwin, Premier Bennett, Primo Carnera, and Leo Youngworth, Shrine Potentate. They all liked the Cadillac and the way Grant drove it. Lord Bessborough gave him a stickpin with Coat of Arms and initial "B" engraved. Lord Jellicoe sent a personal letter with an autographed photograph. Kaye Don sent a silver cigarette case. Carnera presented ringside seats.

Canadian Banker Says Crisis Over

HEAD OF BANKERS' ASSOC. POINTS, HOWEVER, TO GRAVE PROBLEMS

TORONTO, Canada.—In a careful and exhaustive review of Canadian financial conditions made at the time of his re-election as president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, Mr. J. A. McLeod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, declared he believed the worst of the financial crisis had passed and that, both in Canada and the United States, there were definite signs of greater industrial activity. "The lowest point of the depression," he said, "seems actually to have been reached in June. Conditions now are perceptibly better than they were."

But Mr. McLeod hedged about his optimism with a warning against undue confidence. We could not be sure, he said, that the sustained recovery so long awaited was actually under way. The factors principally responsible for the depression were still active and, being of international origin and scope, did not respond to local remedial measures. The pressing problem of war debts remained unsettled and until some solution for it was found there could be no assurance of complete recovery. Added to this factor was the need of some general tariff readjustment, the removal of exchange restrictions, etc., and action on these urgent matters could not be postponed merely because business was better than in June last.

Mr. McLeod discussed various other topics of financial concern. He looked for the outcome of the Imperial Economic Conference to give an effective stimulus to Empire trade and regarded it as a forerunner of the World Economic Conference which must effect a settlement of great outstanding international problems. He pointed out that the railway problem in Canada was a very serious one and must be dealt with decisively. He discussed proposals for establishment in Canada of a central bank, and while taking no definite stand at this time, pointed out its limitations within the special circumstances of this country.

Finally Mr. McLeod dealt with taxation on the basis of disconcerting facts and comparisons. He told his fellow-bankers that recent research undertaken by the University of Toronto showed that whereas in 1928 out of every dollar of Canadian income no less than 12½ cents was collected through federal, provincial and municipal taxation, in 1931 the figure had risen to 18.1 cents, an increase of 45 per cent. Moreover the deadweight burden of debt charges had changed for the worse, from the standpoint of the taxpayer. Taking the aggregate of interest on non self-supporting capital expenditures, together with Government liabilities through Canadian National Railway deficits, and regarding this aggregate as "burdensome debt," he found that in 1928 these charges amounted to three per cent. of the national income and absorbed 24 per cent of all revenue from taxation. In 1931 these had grown to 6½ per cent of all income absorbing more than 35 per cent of proceeds of taxation. Mr. McLeod called these statistics "startling and depressing," and yet, he mentioned, budgets were not being balanced, new debts were incurred. The remedy was, of course, simple in words and difficult in application—drastic economies in government services of all sorts.

TESTS FOR WORLD'S GRAIN SHOW ENTRIES

That milling and baking tests need be applied to only a limited number of hard, red spring wheat entries for the purpose of selecting the prize winners at the World's Grain Show at Regina next year is the opinion expressed by the associate committee on grain research of the National Research Council.

During the annual meeting of the associate committee on grain research of the National Research Council, the question of testing competitive samples of hard, red spring wheat was introduced by L. H. Newman, chairman of the Awards Committee of the World's Grain Show. After a thorough discussion the committee expressed its opinion that the application of other recognized methods of judging will be sufficient to eliminate many of the entries and that milling and baking tests need be applied only to the comparatively small number of possible winners which may remain.

Mr. Newman will submit this view to the Awards Committee at its next meeting for consideration.

WORLD-WIDE INTEREST IN 1933 GRAIN SHOW

That there is a world-wide interest in the World's Grain Show to be held at Regina next year is very well indicated by the hundreds of references to it in the newspapers of every continent. Typical of these comes from Salisbury Agricultural Journal of Rhodesia in far off Africa. After giving an outline of the undertaking the journal says, "It is sincerely hoped that our prominent maize (corn) growers will seize this golden opportunity of advertising their maize and obtain an outlet for their pedigree seed, and also represent the colony at the World's Show."

Alberta farmers are urged to send samples to the Field Crops Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, for inspection as to suitability as exhibition grain. Suggestions for their improvement are made by members of the field crops staff.

Mission Speaker at United Church

Miss Isabel Griffiths of Toronto, traveling secretary for the United Church Women's Missionary society, in Young People's work, was the guest speaker at two meetings at the United Church, Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The W.M.S. of the United Church was hostess at the afternoon meeting, to which all women were invited. The meeting opened with a devotional service led by the society's vice-president, Mrs. Hackett, assisted by Mrs. W. E. Washburn. The subject of Miss Griffiths' talk was methods of work and also the problems and ideals of the missionary organizations of younger girls, under the direction of the W.M.S. in Canada. Vocal solos by Mrs. W. J. Huntingford and Mrs. Whyte of Irma were also part of the program, which was followed by a business meeting and social hour.

In the evening, Miss Griffiths spoke again before a general meeting, to which young people were especially invited. Members of the C.G.I.T. were in charge of the program, giving the devotional service and making other arrangements. A vocal solo was given by Miss Edith Steele.

Wedding Dance Held at Rosedale

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stinson were host and hostess at a wedding dance in the Rosedale hall Friday evening. The popularity of the young couple was testified by the large crowd in attendance, for the hall was packed to the doors. A purse was presented to the couple as a slight token of esteem.

Young People Had Literary Program

Miss Florence Tury was in charge of a literary program put on Sunday evening by the Young People's society of the United Church. Short discussions on the topic, "Should the three prairie provinces be united under one government?" were given by Ken Tury, Cecil Ricker and Edith Steele.

A short sketch on an incident in the life of Florence Nightingale before she left for the Crimea was another feature of the program. Bob Trewartha took the part of Mr. Nightingale, Lulu Prosser of Mrs. Nightingale, Margaret Steele as Florence Nightingale and June McNally of Lady Verney. A vocal solo by Edith Steele was another number on the program.

Miss Agnes Irving Honored at Shower

Miss Agnes Irving of Aurburndale, popular bride-to-be, was the guest of honor at a shower given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. William Hetherington and Miss Dorothy Hetherington at their home. About 30 ladies of the district were guests.

The presentation of the many lovely gifts to the bride-to-be was made by little Keith Hetherington and Freda Arthur, dressed as a tiny bridegroom and bride. A delicious buffet luncheon was served by the two hostesses at the close of the afternoon.

Young People Had Novel Party Friday

An old-fashioned school furnished the model for the major part of the program at the monthly party of the Young People's society of the United Church Friday evening at the I.O.O.F. hall. A large group of society members and guests enjoyed a hilarious evening, under the direction of Misses Florence and Helen Tury and Lois Mabey.

Some of the most enjoyed features and stunts included a history contest, a song story with musical accompaniments telling the story, a novel and hilarious spelling contest between two sides, and stunts and plays presented by three groups. Probably the crowning feature was the presentation of a two-act mystery and detective melodrama, one act put on by a group under the Rev. W. J. Huston and another by a group directed by Rev. W. H. Zook. Imaginary stage properties, which caused actors to walk through walls and similar disasters, added greatly to the enjoyment of that particular event.

BOY SCOUTS REGULAR MEETING WEDNESDAY

The Wainwright Boy Scouts held their regular meeting on Wednesday of this week. Scoutmaster Lilly was absent, but Mr. M. Zook with the assistance of patrol leaders conducted the meeting. Work was done on signalling and first aid. After this work was finished, patrol-leader Wallace took charge of the boys and they finished the evening playing games. They were dismissed after singing "God Save the King" and repeating the Scout Prayer.

Last Monday evening the patrol leaders and Scoutmaster Lilly held a Court of Honor. Business for the month of December was discussed and decided upon. The Boy Scouts are considering furnishing a Christmas for the needy children of Wainwright and are carrying through they will establish a toy repair shop where they will repair damaged toys to be given to these less fortunate children.

EARLY SEEDING BEST

While the sunflower is a crop which adapts itself to a comparatively wide range of seeding conditions, experiments carried out by the Division of Field Husbandry of the Dominion Experimental Farms show that the largest yields are obtained from early seeding. Thinning out to a distance of six inches apart in rows produces higher yield than either closer or wider spacing on sandy loam soil, while on clay soil the crop of sunflowers has been greater where it has been left unthinned.

HI-SCHOOL HI-LIGHTS

This week's contribution comes from one of our Latin students: Jack et Jill quærentes fontem, Ascendebant parvum montem, Ille cadens fregit frontem, Trahebat secum hanc insotem.

What was seen in Grade XII Monday morning:—

Doris Gray wearing a happy smile (we are told that she received first prize at a card party held at Avon-glen school Friday).

Dellard Pollard feeling quite proud of herself (she got the booty).

"Lamentation" or "Ode on the Power of the Press," contributed. They thought: "Exams don't matter." When they viewed them from afar, But now they wish they'd studied For their marks are in the Star! Before exams were started, None cared about them less, But now they wince and wonder At the power of the press! They looked ashamed and stuttered And their parents got a jar; And oh! the reverberations From that column in the Star.

Miss Cain (handing Vaughan back his French exercise): "Vaughan, if you don't pick up if you exercise, I'll have to charge you up for marking pencils!"

Seen around the school.

Lois accidentally tripping a little 'un on the way home yesterday. (Aw, Lois).

Juan, Lois and Grace herself having a good laugh when Lois plopped Grace right in a snowbank, books and all, in some sort of a pushing contest on the way home Thursday.

Georgiana wondering how to spell "sighed."

Life's Darkest Moment:—When Cliff forgot (I) to do his trig and had to remain after 4 for Detention class.

When Wallace was also detained for chalk throwing (little boys must have their fun).

When the exam results were published in last week's paper.

"Looking Backwards"

By Charles Adamson

I turn around; I see: Robert busy at algebra and his mouth working like an adding machine; Harold busily engaged in a conversation with Mac; Melville, practicing an innocent look for next time (Miss Cain catches him playing football with an empty ink bottle); Roland artistically splashing at a sheet of drawing paper with a rapid expression, although the results look like amateur hair-dyeing, Norman, busy as a bee; Grace and Georgina looking at each other as if they wanted to talk but didn't dare; Stella giving advice to Mildred; Hazel.....

Miss Cain—"Charles, what do you think you are doing? Please turn around."

I turn around but am still looking backwards and remember this time last year when Mr. Kyle was explaining the laws of gravity:

Mr. Kyle—"Isaac Newton discovered the law of gravitation when an apple fell on his head. Why did the apple fall?"

Victor Goulet: "Because the stem broke."

I giggle.

—who—
We wonder how it was that Gilbert's exam results were left out of last week's edition of the paper. Well, just to put him at his ease:

Which reminds us that in just a few weeks the Christmas exams commence (Merry Christmas, kids!)

On Friday evening a hockey meeting was held in Grade IX room. It was decided that the teams not be formed until a few practices have been held. Famous Oration by Mr. Thoreson. (After Algebra Test):

If you have tears, prepare to shed them now.
You all did know these questions, I remember,
The first time I inquired,
You got them all;
'Twas on an autumn morning in our class,
The day I solved that Physics problem.

Look! on this test, not one got all right,
See what mark the ignorant Rolando made!
On this the unknowing Robert wrote his test,
And when he plucked his sluggish pen away,
Note well the mark that followed it, Intelligence! Thou'rt gone from High School pupils
And they have lost their reason;
Bear with me,
My heart is in the goose-neck there with Harold
And I must pause till it come back to me.

Poems Expressing the Views of Some of our Students:

What's the use of High School? Only makes ya learn.

What's the use of teachers? If they're allus stern?

What's the use of classes? Classes ain't no fun.

What's the use of students? If they're allus dumb?

What's the use of writin'? Makes your hand feel tired.

What's the use of readin'? What you are required?

What's the use of Virgil? That guy's dead by now.

What's the use of English? Know that anyhow.

What's the use of takin' French? Parlez-vous, oui, oui.

What's the use of history? War on land and sea.

What's the use of talkin'? Wastes your breathin' store.

Might as well quit studyin' And come to school no more.

"Homework"

By Grace Wittmann
Who invented homework?
I'd like to find the guy.
I'd tell him what I thought of him And make him feel so shy.

Us kids could get together And have the swellest times, If it wasn't for darned old homework.

That runs through our poor minds.

Oh boy, if I could find the guy, I'd pity the skin he's in; I'd nail him up against the wall And make him repent his sin.

DISTINCTIVE COLOR 1933 AUTO PLATES

According to an announcement sent out by the deputy provincial treasurer Mr. E. Trowbridge, last week-end, the new 1933 auto license plates which will be available on or about December 18th next, will be of a decidedly distinctive coloring. The plates are enamelled yellow with the figures in a bright cobalt blue. It will hardly cause any difficulty for the powers that be to check up on those using the old numbers, as the difference with the old plates will be quite marked.

THE EXAMINER'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF PROV. MARKETS

CATTLE

BEEF—Trading at Edmonton during the past week has been none too brisk. Good light weight cattle moved at steady prices, but medium and heavy stuff showed an easier tendency. Choice heavy steers $3@3.25; choice light $3.50@4; good $3@3.25; medium $2.25@2.75; common $1.50@2. Choice heifers sold at $3.25@3.50; good $2.75@3.25. Choice cows $1.75@2; good $1.75@2; medium $1.25@1.50; common 75c@1; canners and cutters 50c@75c. Choice bulls $1@1.25; medium 75c@1; canners 50c up. Choice light calves $3@3.50; common $1.50@2.50. FEEDERS-STOCKERS—Fair trade in this market. Feeder steers $1.75@2.50; stock steers $1.50@2.50; stock heifers $1.50@2.50; stock cows 75c@1.50.

HOGS

Edmonton prices a shade easier. Bacon $2.75, fed and watered; select $3.25, and butchers $2.25.

SHEEP

Edmonton quotations unchanged. Yearlings $2@3; ewes $1@2, and lambs from $2@4.

GRAIN

Although conditions in the pit generally have favored an upward move at Winnipeg this week, traders failed to boost quotations. News from Argentina has been bullish. European buyers have been good purchasers of Canadian supplies, while country marketings have eased off. Quotations show little change in position from last week.

CREAM—BUTTER—MILK
CREAM—Slight increase noted by some operators which they attribute to warmer weather, end of the threshing, and a few cows freshening. Prices steady: Special, 17c; first, 15c; seconds, 12c at country points, and centralizers. CREAMERY BUTTER—Sales in province holding up fairly well, but outside markets easier. Some shipping to Vancouver, but trade there not over-active. Considerable variation in print prices for discounts allowed large buyers. No. 1 cartons, 25c; No. 2, 23c; No. 1 prints, 24c; No. 2, 22c; No. 3, 19c.

DAIRY BUTTER—Good demand for fancy table, but supply light. Lower grades slow. Fancy table, 18c; No. 1, 9c 11c; No. 2, 7c 9c. MILK—Prices steady at $1.50 in south; $1.75 in north, per 100 lbs. basis 3d.

POULTRY—EGGS

POULTRY—Receipts: somewhat lighter this week. Fowl in good condition, but large number of poorly finished chicken offered. Prices steady. Odd turkeys, ducks and geese arriving. Prospect on turkey prices not encouraging. EGGS—Quotations still show long spread, and supply of fresh eggs scarce. Few B.C. offerings on market. Storage prices show big difference, and it looks as if some owners are trying to clean up and are willing to sell at almost any price.

HAY—FEED OATS—GREENFEED

HAY—Movement from country very limited with prices down $1 per ton this week. Upland $7, with timothy $7@9 on track at country points. Calgary loose hay market reports good demand and fair supply. Prices steady: Baled upland $8@9; loose, $8 per ton delivered. FEED OATS—Slightly better offerings recently, but market still weak with few buyers. Quotation steady at 15c per bus., delivered. GREENFEED—Good call for this feed and quality being well maintained. Price steady at $6 per ton, delivered.

Apple Dumplings with Magic Baking Powder

"When a young housewife asks me what baking powder she should use," says Miss De Both, director of the famous De Both Home Makers' Cooking Schools, "this is my advice: Use the best—one that is pure, uniform and invariably dependable. You can't use second-rate baking powder and expect first-rate results."

"My experience with Magic has been particularly happy. I find that it is never varies—that it is consistently reliable. And I know it is pure, and free from harmful ingredients."

Statements by other well-known cookery authorities give wholehearted support to Miss De Both's judgment.

In fact, the majority of dietitians and cookery teachers throughout Canada use and recommend Magic exclusively.

Apple Dumplings
1 quart flour 1 1/2 cups milk
3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons butter

Sift into a bowl flour, baking powder and salt. Rub in the butter. Add cold milk to make soft dough. Turn out on a floured board and roll into a sheet. Cut in squares. Peel and core the apples. Place an apple on each square of dough. Fill the core with a small piece of butter, sugar and a little cinnamon. Fold the dough over, taking care that there are no openings, as the steam inside dumplings cooks the apple while dough is baking. Brush dumplings with a little cream, and place in greased pan. Bake in moderate oven at 400° F. about 40 minutes. Serve with cream or hard sauce.

Assays of $10 and $12 per ton in gold, together with demonstrated presence of other metals on claims in the Shebandowan area, most of the Lakehead on the Winnipeg line of the Canadian National Railways, leads to the belief that another deposit of importance has been opened up in that field. The region has often returned interesting results from exploration and is possibly unique in Canada for the variety of minerals found in the properties that have been opened up. There is one producing mine in the area, the Moss.

The first threshing ever done in the wilds "north of 53" will be undertaken this week when Emil St. Godard, famous dog racer, and his father, Avila St. Godard, put this year's crop through the machine on their ranch on the Saskatchewan river, about thirteen miles west of The Pas. The St. Godards recently bought a separator in the Swan River country and had it shipped to The Pas. They are taking it over the winter road to the ranch in the Carrot River Valley. In summer, there is no trail to their holdings and all freighting has to be done by barge and their tug Hazel. They expect to thresh 80 bushels of wheat, 1,500 bushels of oats and about 100 bushels of barley.

This is the season of "northwesters" on the Great Lakes, and already the end of navigation is in sight. Within a few days, a start will be made on the withdrawing of navigation aids in the upper lakes, and they will gradually disappear until the closing of navigation on Dec. 15. will bring in the lightkeepers from their lonely stations along the rocky shores of Lake Superior. All lighted buoys and other floating aids on the Canadian side, in Lake Superior, will be kept in operation as long as ice conditions permit, and in cases where the removal of lighted buoys is necessary before the close of navigation the more important stations will be marked by spars.

There was an improvement in Canada in October, according to reports received by the Canadian National railways. Figures from 3020 firms show staffs employed of 796,165 persons as against 790,867 in the preceding month. The upturn is particularly interesting because employment shows a drop in Canada in October. Despite the increase noted this year, the figures are below the average as compared with previous years. The most pronounced gains in employment were made in the canning industry and textile factories. Improvement was also noticed in logging, mining, transportation, highway construction and trade. Building construction, however, showed a decline.

A comparatively new innovation on the part of the Canadian National Telegraphs is the sending of Christmas and New Year greetings by telegram within city limits. Last year the innovation met with favorable response and it is anticipated that this year will see a greatly increased number of these messages handled. A special rate is given by the Canadian National Telegraphs, equivalent to the cost of a moderate priced Christmas greeting card. The novelty of receiving a telegram direct from a uniformed messenger has been found to add greatly to the interest in the message.

An unclaimed freight auction sale held in the Canadian National Railways sheds in Saint John, N.B., recently resembled somewhat the Old Curiosity Shop described by Charles Dickens. In the lot were washbasins, bedsteads, a tank top, a grindstone, empty animal crates, sewer pipe, auto parts, tires, sinks, a stove, an oven, a sled, pork barrels, empty bottle barrels, kitchen chairs, mattresses, a doll's carriage, child's rocker, a butter churn, a tripod, baskets, a marble headstone and a case of bottle crowns. Bidding was brisk and prices ranged from 10 cents to $10.00.

Buffalo Slaughter Gives Scene Of Activity In Wain. National Park

THE PASSING OF THIRTY MILLION BUFFALO; HOW IT HAPPENED

Under the caption of "The Thundering Herd" the current issue of "Forest and Outdoors" carries the following article from the pen of M. Lamarque, and as the south end of our park, and the abattoir and other appurtenances there for the purpose are just now the scene of great activity in the annual "killing out" of ever-increasing herds of buffalo the story is truly a timely one.

This yearly event produces a truly busy scene, and although everything is done under the keenest of supervision, and accidents (except minor ones) are non-existent today, the average reader will be able to sense the difference between the manner of human destruction for economical reasons observed today, and the ruthless slaughter which pertained in the early part of the nineteenth century.

Mr. Lamarque's vivid story reads as follows:—

"See, it is from under the lake that our buffaloes come. You say they are all gone; but look, they come again and again to us. We cannot kill them all—they are under the lake. Do you hear the noise which never ceases? It is the buffalo fighting with each other far under the ground and striving to get out upon the prairie—where else can they come from?"

Thus said the tribes of the Canadian West, who put the location of this lake, the waters of which never rested, somewhere to the south-west of the Eagle Hills in the present Province of Saskatchewan.

When one considers the countless numbers, roughly estimated at thirty millions, that once roamed the country from the southerly shores of the Great Slave Lake to the Lowlands of Georgia, it is surprising that the natives thought that it would be impossible to destroy them all or that their vast numbers were due to supernatural causes?

But today, barely three centuries since they were first seen by White Men—wandering Spaniards on the Texan plains—the race would be extinct if it had not been for the action of a few private individuals, the Canadian Government, and more tardily that of the United States.

Despite the toll taken of their ranks by native hunters, wolves and other predatory animals, and the immense numbers drowned every spring when the rivers broke up and the ice rotted in the lakes, so that an upper tributary of the Missouri, was named Stinking Waters, and Alexander Henry of the North West Company recorded that in the spring of 1801 buffalo carcasses formed a continuous line on the current of the Red River of the North for two whole days after the break-up of the ice, despite these heavy losses it is probable that the animals were on the increase till the end of the 17th century. Then the whole life of the western Indian was changed when they were able, for the first time, by their acquisition of horses from the Spaniards, to follow the herds.

During the 18th century, both the Indians and the buffalo were gradually losing their hold on the country to the east of the Mississippi, and the very end of that century saw the destruction of the last herd in Pennsylvania—a herd that, reduced to near starvation by the rigors of a bitter December, raided the stacks of a Dutch settler and, stampeding through his cabin, killed his wife and children.

From practically the beginning of the 19th century, with the advent of hunters and traders to the west of the Great Lakes and the Mississippi, the destruction of the herds increased so that by the middle of the century there were but few left in that part of the North-West now known as Manitoba. And yet, so vast were their numbers on the immense plains of the West, their total destruction was probably never anticipated.

From the middle of the century, however, with the arrival of the gold seekers, the Mormons and hunters and traders in ever increasing numbers, the tenure of the herds became more doubtful, and even precarious when the Union Pacific was commenced in 1865. Its completion caused the division of the buffalo into two herds—the northern and the southern; the former of from one to two millions, the latter of five millions or more.

The Union Pacific, followed shortly by the Santa Fe and the Northern Pacific, sealed not only the doom of the buffalo but also that of the kind of life that the Indians had lived for countless generations.

The whole life of the western plains was changed. With access to the feeding grounds of the buffalo enormously facilitated, the country was overrun by hunters greedy for the pelts but careless, for the most part, of the carcasses of their victims. The orgy of destruction went on unabated. Little, if any effort was made to prevent it. It seemed improbable that the herds could be wiped out, and yet, as Douglas Brant in "The Hunting of the Buffalo" has so graphically narrated—"In the winter of '83 the buffalo herds outfitted as usual. They and their skimmers, they stocked their wagons with provisions and set out for the buffalo range. The buffalo seemed to be further west this year; and the hunters guided their wagons through the carion of last season's buffalo hunt. But there were no buffalo. North there were none, only here and there a lone old bull. The buffalo butchers simply could not believe in this destruction and they staggered into failure and bankruptcy."

And so, in the eighties, there were merely the remains to be cleared up—thousands and thousands of tons of the bleached bones from those countless carcasses which had been left to rot were shipped eastward for their phosphate and carbon content, at a price rarely less, it is said, than four dollars a ton.

Thus passed the great herds of the plains; and thus for ever would the American bison have passed off the face of the earth if it had not been for a few survivors in the far north and the foresight of a few men in the south.

When a half-breed, Walking Coyote, about the year 1880, drove thirty buffaloes across the Canadian border into the Flathead Reservation in Montana, and another, Michael Pablo bought the herd for two thousand dollars and took good care of them—these men, perhaps, were doing greater things than they knew.

By the time Pablo's herd had increased to seven hundred, the United States Government threatened him with the loss of his range; so, failing to negotiate for another in Alberta, he sold his entire herd to the Canadian Government in 1907, and the animals were moved, during the course of two or three seasons, to the Wainwright Park in Alberta, where some one hundred and sixty miles were fenced in.

It was really a fine action on the part of the Canadian Government, and it has deservedly prospered.

In the United States, initially through the efforts of men like M. H. Baynes, in his articles for the Boston Transcript, and Major Lillie of Oklahoma, and then through the medium of the American Bison Society, organized in 1905, of which Hornaday was President, the late Theodore Roosevelt, Honorary President, and Baynes, secretary, the saving of the race from total extinction to the south of the Canadian border was undertaken and the reserves in Oklahoma and Montana, where there are now altogether about 5000 animals established.

Again, in 1925, when it was apparent that despite an annual and unpopular slaughter the animals were becoming too numerous for even the immense reserve at Wainwright, the Canadian Government decided to ship surplus animals to that vast area in the north which formed the last natural stronghold of the bison.

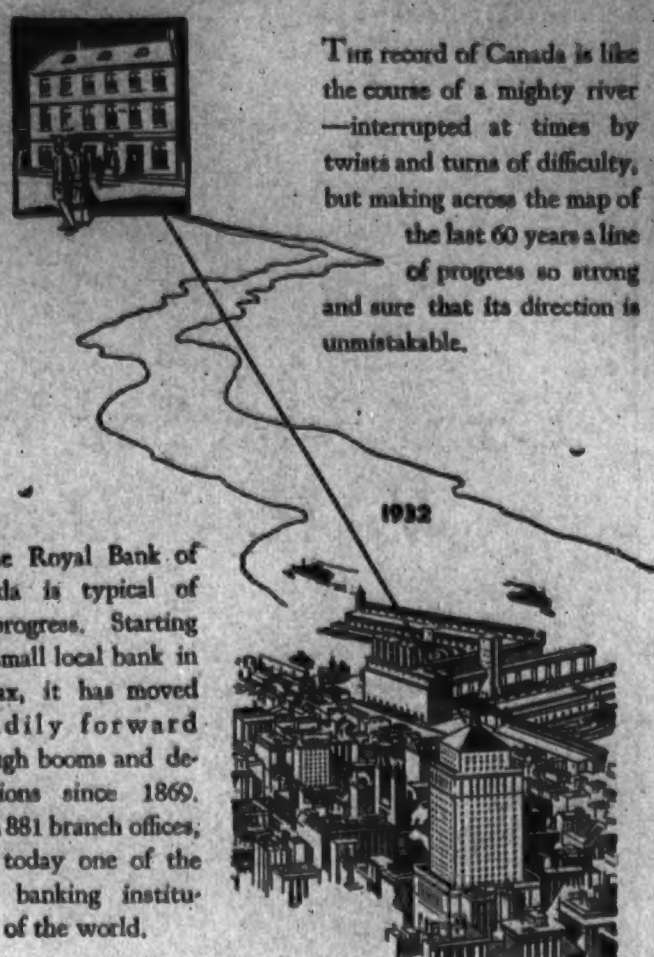

This area, which has formed a natural sanctuary for the survivors of the northern herds, is bounded by the Great Slave Lake on the north; the Caribou Hills and other rougher country to the west; the Peace River to the south and the Slave River to the east.
